Performers should select two or three pieces, contrasting in style or period, and prepare a short verbal introduction to the works.

Both classes are open to those aged 19 years or younger on 31 December 2018.

Corin Long (1966–2007) was Principal Bass of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra and taught at the Royal Academy of Music and Trinity College of Music. These awards in his memory are intended to support young string players in their musical studies.
